From the President

After being involved with all the pre-season set up that goes with running the Club, it was great to see all the boys on the paddock doing what we're all about. Gymea came in their droves (27 teams!) and we repelled them in each age. Great work by our 1 team sides like the 9s, 12s, 13s and 14s who with only minimal numbers put up gutsy (and classy) performances against our visitors.

Work wise we still need a lot more help. Ladies, we really need you in the canteen. We'll take you anytime but preferably before your boy plays. It's not hard work BUT it must be done. Similarly, we need BBQ workers. Same principle, come over and join in before your son's game.

A few guys who aren't afraid of putting in are some of our current A graders and ex-players. This week we've signed up "A" graders Brock Askell and Nathan Sellings to look after our second under 8s. They join Dave Eisenhuth and Paul Gibbs who are already trainers for the 14s. Ex-players Jason Mayoh, Josh Kavanagh and James Leten are going to look after our second 7s while Justin D'Astoli (10s), Justin Colquhoun (12s), Dave Yasbek (13s) and Daniel Wagstaff (15s) are all on board as trainers - thanks guys, your efforts are very much appreciated.

Calling all nurses! After getting the CBDJRL to clarify the rules, registered nurses can act as first aid officers at games (thank God for common sense). This is not the water boy or trainer who runs out onto the field, it is the person who sits at the officials' table to whom more serious injuries are escalated. If you are a nurse obviously you do not need to do the 2 day course in March. If you're watching your son play anyway, why not sit with the officials and wear the vest. Remember, no first aid officer, that team forfeits! We really are looking for a first aider from each team. Contact your team's manager if you can help.

Go the Saints

Each team is required to have representatives attend to sell raffle tickets at the rostered time. The raffles are a major source of revenue for the Club and help to off-set the costs for players and families. Attendance provides a good opportunity to socialise with other parents and mates and build camaraderie within the team and club.
